Representative Harry Maypard of Virginia tells the story of how a religious old negro in his district put a stop to the exercise of Christian charity in the congregation of which he was a member. It seems that it was a practise in the church to excommunicate for one year any member who had been guilty of a "blood fight" -that is, any man who had attacked another with a pistol or a razor.

At the end of the year, if the offender wished reinstatement, he could go to the "mourners' bench," rise and declare his repentance, and be forgiven by the congregation. This went on for many years. At last a young darky who had been in a particularly objectionable broil appeared for rein statement. The pastor made an eloquent appeal to the congregation and everybody began to shout and say

It was at this point that the old negro arose and said hotly:

"Look hyah, pahson; eber since I been a membuh of dis congergashun, dar ain' been nothin' but fightin' an' fungivin'—an' I been doing all de fungivin'. I'se tired of it!" That broke up the meeting.—Popular Magazine.

Her Excuse, "Why-er-yes," Miss Goodley admitted, "perhaps you did hear me telling the minister I was only twenty-, two."

TAFT IN BAD LIGHT KEEP TRUTH BEFORE VOTERS

PEOPLE LOSE CONFIDENCE IN EASY-GOING PRESIDENT.

Chief Executive Has Proved His Subserviency to Advisers-Small Wonder That Voters Look on Him With Increasing Disfavor.

The latest phase of the Ballinger investigation plainly proves what has been for more than a year circumstantially evident, that William Howard Taft's opinion in matters of state are not the result of his own investigation and reasoning.

Our unfortunate president has fallen under the influence of others. His messages and speeches reflect, not his personality, but the wishes of those who surround him, irrespective of what his own judgment might dictate as in the best interest of the Republican party or the people of the United

The general public will be shocked to learn that Mr. Taft's letter of September 13, 1909, exonerating Secretary Ballinger from the charges made by Glavis, was based on a statement prepared in Mr. Ballinger's private office by Mr. Ballinger's special deputy attorney general, Mr. Lawler, the essential points of which Mr. Taft wrote into his letter almost word for word.

The unfortunate position in which the president finds himself is not improved by his admission that he asked Attorney General Wickersham to make a written finding, embodying the Lawler argument, and address it to the White House under an earlier date than September 13, so that it might appear that the exoneration of that date was based thereon, instead of on the argument of official counsel for Mr. Ballinger and his department.

In the light of these revelations Mr. Taft cannot complain if the public credits Aldrich with having written his famous speech in defense of the Aldrich-Taft tariff, Cannon with his pleas for party regularity, the railroads with his railroad legislation, and eastern money kings with his proposed new banking laws.

Theodore Roosevelt was a law unto himself, but the people of the United States prefer even the Roosevelt brand of imperialism in the White House to blindly confident complaisance that judges a case first and seeks evidence afterwards.

People Have Lost Confidence.

In the conservative Republican states of the east Mr. Taft's prosecution of the Roosevelt policies, with some additions of his own, is disliked. It has cost him a great part of his popularity, it has cost him much of the public confidence he enjoyed when he took office. Where is he to turn for support? In what quarter and by what acts or declarations can he hope to regain the confidence of the people? The west turns against him because of his acceptance and defense of the unsatisfactory tariff. In the east not only are his corporation policies disapproved, but the election of Mr. Foss shows that the tariff, also, is unpopular, and he has accepted responsibility.

Republican Party Split.

In one single year President Taft has opened a wide rift in the Republican party and is currently believed to be disloyal to the Roosevelt policies, and now Roosevelt himself is on his way home with the prestige of bewild beasts, after and next to Nimrod, and it creates a situation the possible

The strong declaration at the opening of congress, that expenditures must be retrenched, are to be made good. The last session having appropriated $1,044,000,000 the current one is expected to severely reduce that total to $1,040,000,000.

There is something almost pitiful in the fact that President Taft, who entered his high office barely a year ago on a sort of wave of popularity, is to-day far from occupying the position of advantage which then he enjoyed.

President's Work Effective.

Tariff reform must begin at the the machinery; scientific revision cannot be had without scientific methods; a principle of revision cannot be acted on in default of the data necessitated by the principle; and the date cannot be had without the machinery for collecting and col-

So tariff commission work is the sine que non of tariff revision on the platform labor cost differential prin- to defeat than he has been heretofore.

Platform Writers Must Show People Just What the Real Struggle Means.

Senator Beverldge's suggestion that the coming struggle is "between the people and the powers of pillage" should sink deeply into the minds of platform writers in this campaign. The appeal for votes by the progres sive element must get away from platitudes. It must treat party shiboleths with disdain. There is not a shadow of doubt that majority of the American people be lieve the tariff to be the stronghold of special privilege. They are convinced that the Aldrich-Taft revision did not break these chains of privilege. The people want the tariff revisednot by friends of the tariff, but by friends of the people. No real revision is possible by the paid attorneys of

In appealing for votes, therefore, pro gressive platform writers should keep uppermost this central truth-that it is not a struggle between political parties at all, but between the people and the money power.

Let the platforms be simple and direct, going to the root of this nation's greatest economic affliction. A trustcontrolled tariff is a public enemy, and the people are ready to fight it under proper leadership.

The waving of party banners will not do this year. The old battle cries will not help a revival of national conscience.

Besides being simply stated, the platforms of the progressives in all states should set out in clear and precise terms that the battle between men and money knows no sectional bounds.

Monopoly Prices and Tariff.

"If the prevalence in all parts of the country," says the New York Sun, "of purely local causes regularly defeating Republican candidates for congress, for county and town offices and delivering Republican strongholds to the Democratic party has no particular significance we confess that we are unable to conceive of any political danger signal that would be worthy of

The Sun is not so foolish as to shut its eyes to the fact that the Rochester revolt and other recent Republican defeats, show that voters are manifesting their dissatisfaction with Republican policies and practises, hence it is absurd to attribute the party disasters to local causes when the whole country is in a ferment of tariff agitation, because of the monopoly prices the people have to pay for everything they eat and wear.

The National Conscience.

In the commercial game, as played by eastern trust barons and their lackeys in congress, the natural laws of supply and demand are suspended. They aim to control both production and the supply markets. They corner everyday commodities, including the basic foodstuffs and other necessaries of life, and take toll on the needs of the poor. That is why the national conscience is slowly but surely moving toward the overthrow of special privileges for trust manipulators. Americans will no longer tolerate legalized robbery of consumers by the shrick; then silence; another cry; tariff. That will be demonstrated in November.

The Payne-Aldrich law continued generous protection for American against pauper-made watches of Europe, and still the Waltham factory ing the world's mightiest hunter of has been closed down five times since December and will be closed again from June 20 to July 26. The trouble outcome of which is creating great is Payne-Aldrich prices don't leave anxiety in the Republican administra- Americans any money to buy watches with.

Deeline of a Little State.

Some of Senator Aldrich's political friends in Rhode Island are saying with a challenge in their accents that the new senator from that state will be "a man of the Aldrich type."

The interests which Mr. Aldrich has served are welcome to all the comfort that they can extract from this consideration. But they will hardly derive enough joy from the persistence of the Aldrich type in Rhode Island to overcome their distress at its extinction elsewhere.

Bryan in Same Position,

Mr. Bryan's formal announcement that he is not a candidate for the Democratic nomination in 1912 should not unduly depress the Republican chiefs, because it is the customary formula used by him in the early atages of his campaign. He is not a candidate, but is always at the service of his party and will fight for his place of No. 1 on the eligible list as usual. Still there is no particular reason to believe that he will be harder -Buffalo Commercial
